

Deciduous

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

Oval leaves have double-toothed edges and a sharp point.

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

Leaves turn golden-yellow in autumn.

This deciduous tree can grow up to 95' tall.

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

PNW Native Plant
PPNC: 47

Paper Birch

Betula papyrifera

© Starflower Foundation 2006

Catkins break into winged seeds in winter.

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

White to coppery-brown, paper-thin bark, peels off in strips.

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

Tree
Shrub
Ground cover
Forbs/Grass
Forest
Prairie Meadow
Wetland Riparian

Deciduous

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

Oval leaves have double-toothed edges and a sharp point.

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

Leaves turn golden-yellow in autumn.

This deciduous tree can grow up to 95' tall.

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

PNW Native Plant
PPNC: 47

Paper Birch

Betula papyrifera

© Starflower Foundation 2006

Catkins break into winged seeds in winter.

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

White to coppery-brown, paper-thin bark, peels off in strips.

Photo by Heidi Bohlen

Tree
Shrub
Ground cover
Forbs/Grass
Forest
Prairie Meadow
Wetland Riparian