Western Hemlock
Tsuga heterophylla

PNW Native Plant
PPNC: 30

Evergreen

This evergreen tree grows 180’ tall.

Feathery, drooping boughs.

Brown cones are 3/4” long with open scales. New bud growth occurs in spring.

Western hemlock has a distinctive drooping leader which is visible from a distance.

Needles vary from 1/4”-5/8” long and lay flat along stem.

Western Hemlock
Tsuga heterophylla

© Starflower Foundation 2006

Leader

Brown cones are 3/4” long with open scales. New bud growth occurs in spring.